ENCHANTING NEW RELEASES FOR OCTOBER

More new releases from our manufactory set the mood for winter, Advent, and Christmas: After more than 70 years off the slopes in Wendt & Kühn's historic archive of samples, the Boy on Sled is spreading winter cheer once more. With their period appearance and muted colors, two grocers evoke times gone by as they take their place alongside the three Berry Pickers. Anyone wishing to sweeten the countdown to Christmas Eve can look forward to an Advent Calendar filled with fine chocolates from Hallingers Genuss Manufaktur. Once again, waiting behind door 24 is a charming heavenly messenger, available exclusively in this Advent Calendar (only available in Europe).

The Boy on Sled, the Grocer, the Groceress, and the Advent Calendar are now available to purchase from authorized retailers and from our stores in Grünhainichen and Seiffen.

A HEAVENLY ADDITION TO THE TREE

Last year, a large Marguerite Angel in a ring, complemented by a mouth-blown glass bell, launched a new series within Wendt & Kühn's range of Christmas tree decorations. Just in time for Christmas 2026, we are introducing another set: This time, the angel holds a gingerbread heart and a Christmas ball ornament. The set also includes a glass ball ornament from the INGE GLAS® manufactory, designed to match the one held by the angel. The glass ball ornament's design – delicate tendrils with gold glitter that bring a sparkle to its matte background – is aptly named "Delights." What a fitting name for this heavenly pairing!

The angel and glass ball ornament are available exclusively as a set. The glass ball ornament is available in two colors: one in a golden tone, the other in silver.
